3D Pie Chart

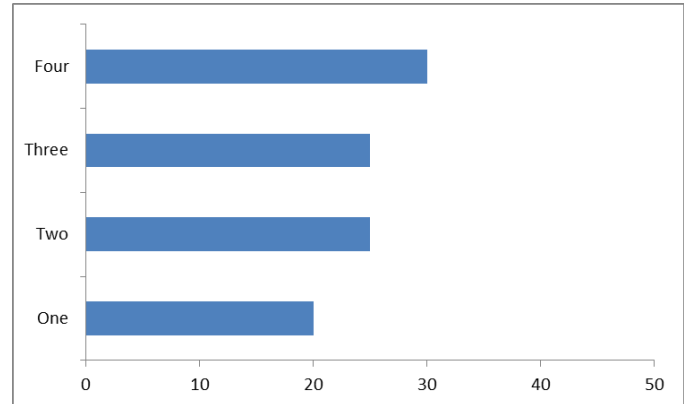

Regular Pie Chart

Donut Chart

Horizontal Bar Chart

All four of the above charts use the same data (One: 20, Two: 25, Three: 25, Four: 30) and can be produced simply in Excel.

Notice how the 3D chart distorts the data?

When looking at the regular Pie Chart, where do your eyes focus? How about the Donut Chart?

You can easily see the differences in the Bar Chart; can you say the same about the others?
